What we don't have:

Local Government Records:

- Birth, marriage and death registration have been required since 1880. These records are kept at the town, village or city in which the event took place. You need to contact the town or village clerk where the birth, marriage or death took place. There are fees, set by the State of New York, to get copies of these. Before 1880, such registration was not required, so such certificates generally do not exist. In some instances, you may find birth/baptismal and marriage records with a specific church, but many of these records are long gone or were never created.
- Records of wills and letters of administration may be found at the Delaware County Surrogates' Court.
- With the exception of some specific collections, the DCHA does not have deeds and mortgages. The Delaware County Clerk's office is the official holder of deed and mortgage records.

- School records of one-room school houses, except for the few items at DCHA, can be found at either the town in which the school was located or with the central school district that absorbed the school when it was closed. The New York State Archives has very useful statistical records of schools. Schools had to file these reports annually. Some of these reports also are available at the Delaware County Clerk's office.
- Tax rolls are created by the county, though the assessments are set by the towns. The taxes also are collected by the towns. A set of the rolls stays with the town, with another set going to the county. The tax rolls from 1860 to 1930 have been microfilmed and are available at the Delaware County Clerk's office or at the New York State Archives
- Some town minute books have been microfilmed. The film is available at the Delaware County Clerk's office and at the New York State Archives. Microfilmed records include town clerk's record and minute books and (in some instances) other records for the towns of Andes (1820-1993), Bovina (1820-1993), Colchester (1891-1993 with gaps), Davenport (1930-1993), Delhi (1823-1994), Deposit (1881-1994), Franklin (1793-1994), Hamden (1825-1994), Hancock (1879-1993), Harpersfield (1787-1994), Kortright (1829-1994), Masonville (1930-1993), Meredith (1891-1993), Middletown (1851-1994), Roxbury (1799-1993), Sidney (1801-1994), Stamford (1793-1993), Tompkins (1806-1993), and Walton (1797-1995).

Church Records

- Except for the ones noted above, DCHA does not house church records. You will need to contact the local church directly for further information.
- The Delaware County Genealogy and History website (<http://www.dcnhistory.org/>) has transcripts of the churches of several communities in the county.
